

Six-Word Memoirs

Six-Word Memoirs are SHORT stories that were created by Smith Magazine, and collected in the NYT bestseller, Not Quite What I Was Planning: Six-Word Memoirs by Writers Famous & Obscure, and followed up by Six-Word Memoirs on Love & Heartbreak. Newsweek Magazine now has a weekly feature called In Six Words where they print three different entries based on changing themes. For examples of memoirs, check out this website: <http://www.smithmag.net/sixwords/>.

- Fill out the entry below with your six-word memoir and turn it in to any Henderson Library.
- Your first submission will count as one adult Summer Reading Program drawing entry.

Six-Word Memoirs

My Entry: _____

FIRST NAME (Optional) _____ AGE (Optional) _____

(Use only six words. Turn in at front desk. First submission counts as one adult SRP drawing entry.)